TEACHING SNOW IN WISCONSIN

A Great World Texts Colloquium for Educators

Sept. 9 – 10, 2013, Room 126 Memorial Library

Monday September 9, 2013

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>8:00 -8:30</td>
<td>Arrivals &amp; introductions over coffee, juice and bagels</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:30-8:45</td>
<td>Welcome and Resource Overview with Center for the Humanities Director Sara Guyer</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 9:00 – 10:30 | B. Venkat Mani, Associate Professor of German, Faculty Advisor to Snow in Wisconsin
“Unpacking Orhan Pamuk’s Library: On the Making of a Great World Text” |
| 10:30-10:45 | break                                                                |
| 10:45-11:15 | Teaching Snow in Wisconsin: Using the Guide for Educators
Gabriella Ekman, Great World Texts program fellow |
| 11:15-12:00 | Teaching toward the Student Conference:
Strategies for project-based teaching and learning
Heather DuBois Bourenane, Great World Texts program coordinator |
| 12:00-1:30 pm | Lunch for participating teachers at the University Club, Banquet Room (lower level) |
| 1:30-2:30  | Connie Flanagan, Professor of Human Ecology
“How teachers nurture democratic values in the next generation” |
| 2:30-3:00  | Jill Rosenshield, Associate Curator of Special Collections, Memorial Library
Andy Spencer and Casey Schacher, Academic Librarians
Presentation on rare and illustrated library materials and textile resources |
| 3:00-3:15  | break                                                                |
| 3:15-4:15  | Neslihan Atatimur, PhD candidate, Geography
“Turkey’s Modern Paradoxes: Putting Women in the Public Space” |
| 4:15- 4:30 | Gerhard Fischer, Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction
Great World Texts and the new Global Studies Certificate |
| 4:30-5:00  | Great World Texts, Common Core State Standards and Professional Development:
Making the most out of participating in Snow in Wisconsin
Tamara Maxwell, English Language Arts Consultant, Common Core State Standards Team, DPI and Heather DuBois Bourenane |
| 5:30 pm    | Dinner for participating teachers, Hüsnü’s, 547 State Street     |

Center for the Humanities

University of Wisconsin - Madison
Tuesday

September 10, 2013

8:30 – 8:45 am  Arrivals + coffee, juice and bagels

8:45 – 9:15  Close readings: interdisciplinary teaching strategies

9:15-10:15  Uli Schamiloglu, Professor, Languages and Cultures of Asia and Director of the Center for Middle East Studies
“From Caliphate to Secular Republic: The Trajectory of Modern Turkish History”

10:15-10:30  break

10:30-11:30  Laini Kavaloski, PhD Candidate in English Literature and Design Lab
“Digital Media and the Great World Texts Classroom”

11:30-1pm  Lunch for participating teachers at the University Club, Banquet Room (lower level)

1:00-2:00  Funda Derin, Lecturer, Languages and Cultures of Asia
“The Politics of Veiling in Turkey and Orhan Pamuk’s Snow”

2:00-3:00  Close readings: translation

3:00-3:30  Evaluations and closing remarks

Thank you for your commitment to teaching and to bringing Snow to Wisconsin students! The success of the Great World Texts program lies in the excellent work that you do in the classroom. We are proud to have such a fine team of educators participating in our program this year and look forward to seeing the work your students produce for the Student Conference on December 2.